However, they may still be eligible for support from their respective home education departments and, where this is the case, they will still be eligible for a training bursary on the basis that they meet all other criteria.

Those who are unsuccessful in their application to the DfE may be considered eligible for an ITT place and bursary (if applicable).
 - Individuals who hold QTLS (Qualified Teacher Learning and Skills) or EYTS (Early Years Teacher Status) are able to apply for an ITT place, and may receive a bursary, if they meet the full eligibility criteria.
- You must not be receiving a salary or other payment for any type of teaching work that contributes to your training whilst undertaking your ITT course.

How are applications assessed?

On receipt of your claim form, and once you are fully enrolled, we will check that you meet the Department for Education's eligibility criteria for the award.

What else do I need to know?

- Bursary payments can only begin once you are fully enrolled and your degree classification has been confirmed. If you aren't fully enrolled in October, your appropriate bursary amount will be rolled over into your November payment (or to the month that you become fully enrolled)
- Bursaries are not taxable; however, they may be treated as capital income for the purposes of income assessment if you receive state benefits
- If you undertake paid teaching work in a school or institution, you may become ineligible to receive the training bursary from the date you start this work
- If you drop the QTS element of your course then your bursary payments will cease
- The bursary is not a salary paid in arrears – it is a financial incentive, with a payment schedule set by the Department for Education
- Should you withdraw from, or cease to engage with the course, you would be entitled to the training bursary for each month up to and including, the month in which you withdraw. We would seek to recover any overpayment of bursary from you
- If you leave and then re-join your course, you will normally only be eligible to receive the remainder of the bursary awarded in the year you started the course
- If you leave your course and join a new one with no transfer of standing or credit from the previous course and are being charged a new tuition fee, you will be entitled to receive a new bursary. However, if you have already received a full bursary award on the previous route, you would not be eligible for another bursary
- The training bursary awards are relevant to the academic year of study and can change from year to year
